THE Capitulation Brigadier Gaudecker obtain'd for the Garriſon of Dieſt, (mention'd in his Letter incerted in Yeſterday's Courant,) was as follows.

'THE Garriſon ſhall yield themſelves Priſoners 'of War, on Condition that all the Officers 'Baggage and Horſes, as alſo their Wives, Children 'and Servants that are not in the Service, ſhall be 'allow'd them; and that they ſhall be permitted to 'carry them with them or to ſend them away under 'a Guard; and that thoſe Officers who have loſt 'their Horſes, ſhall be furniſh'd with Waggons or 'Horſes to carry them. Agreed.

2. 'The Soldiers of the Gariſon ſhall keep their 'Cloaths and Baggage; and the Officers ſhall be 'ſuffer'd to wear their Swords; nor ſhall the leaſt 'thing be taken from them except their Arms and 'and the Horſes of the Dragoons. Agreed.

3. 'All Ingeniers, Directors and others concern'd 'in Works of Fortification, as alſo the ſick and 'wounded with their Chirurgeons and other Attendants, and generally all other Perſons who are in 'the Pay and Service of the Allies, ſhall be comprehended under the precedent Article relating to the 'Soldiers of the Garriſon; and the ſaid ſick and 'wounded with the Chirurgeons and other neceſſary 'Attendants ſhall continue in the Place till they are cur'd. Agreed; but the latter ſhall be at their own Expence.

4. 'The Garriſon ſhall not be carried out of Brabant, but ſhall remain in it till they are exchang'd. This Article is left to the Elector of Bavaria.

5. The Townſmen of Dieſt, ſhall be treated as 'they were by the Troops of the Allies in reſpect of 'their Goods, and ſhall be maintain'd in their Priviledges. Agreed.

'As for the ordinary Duty of Artillery, the Inhabitants ſhall agree about it with Monſieur de Moral.

'Hague, November 10. The King of Pruſſia's 'Miniſter having deliver'd a Memorial to the States, 'complaining of a Satyr written in Dutch Verſe a'gainſt Stadtholderſhip, under the Title of Hæc Li'bertatis ergo, [of which ſome Account was given 'in one of my former] in which Satyr his Pruſſian 'Majeſty is virulently reflected on, the States have 'return'd an Anſwer, which imports, That they will 'communicate that Memorial to all the ſeven Provinces, not only that the ſelling and diſperſing of 'the ſaid Satyr be forbid, but that diligent Search 'may be made for the Author and Printer, in order 'to their being puniſh'd according to the Tenour and 'Rigour of the Placards publiſh'd againſt ſuch unlawful Libels: That their High Mightineſſes ſuſpect ſome Enemy made that Satyr to ſow Diſtruſt 'and Jealouſy betweeen them and his Pruſſian Majeſty, whom they eſteem as a good Friend and 'Neighbour: But that they hope his ſaid Majeſty 'will take no further Notice of a Matter, in which 'their High Mightineſſes cannot be ſuppos'd to have 'had any Hand; but will continue in the ſame 'Friendſhip and good Neighbourhood with them as 'before. In conſequence of this, the Council of 'State of the Province of Holland have caus'd to be 'affix'd in this Town, a Placard forbidding under 'very ſevere Penalties the Bookſellers to ſell this 'Satyr. The ſaid Miniſter of Pruſſia having demanded a ſhare of the Contributions levy'd this 'Campaign in the Country of Luxembourg, the 'Biſhopricks of Mets, Toul, and Verdun, and certain 'Diſtricts on the Moſelle, the States have given him 'all the Satisfaction he deſir'd. The Province of 'Gelderland being behind hand in paying their Quota for the 2500 Pruſſians that are in the Service of 'the States, it has given occaſion to the Pruſſian Miniſter to give in a Memorial to the States concerning 'the ſaid 2500 Men: Whereupon their High Mightineſſes have written a very preſſing Letter to the States 'of Gelderland, wherein among other things they tell 'them they proteſt againſt (or lay at their Door) all 'the Inconveniencies that may happen to the detriment of the Republick by their delaying the ſaid 'Payment. A Copy of this Letter has been communicated to the Pruſſian Miniſter. 'Tis believ'd the Duke 'of Marlborough will go to the Court of Berlin in his 'return from Vienna, to ſettle anew with his Pruſſian 'Majeſty the Treaty for continuing in the Service of 'the Alliez the 8000 Men he has in Prince Eugene's 'Army in Italy. The Diſpute between the Towns 'of Delft and Rotterdam concerning the Bridge of 'Oversky, ſeems to be brought to an end by the following Expedient. viz. The Court of Juſtice of 'the Province, having purſuant to the common 'Courſe of their Proceedings ſent an Officer t'other 'Day to Rotterdam, to demand of the Schout to deliver to him one of the Burgomaſters, and to give Aſſiſtance in bringing him Priſoner hither, (for the Contempt ſhewn by the Magiſtracy of that Town of the Sentence mention'd in my former to be given againſt them upon the Affair in queſtion) the Officer was ſent back with the Schout's Refuſal, as was expected: And thereupon the Court by its own Authority ſet Men to work to repair the ſaid Bridge according to the old Model. Now thoſe of Rotterdam not having by Force oppos'd this repairing of the Bridge, as 'twas fear'd they would; 'tis not doubted they deſign to make no further Buſtle, and to pay the Town of Delft their Expences in proſecuting this Suit (which are very conſiderable) if not eo nomine directly, at leaſt under ſome other Denomination or Pretence. The Parties that lay claim to the Succeſſion of the Biſhoprick of Lubeck, are each ſollicitous to poſſeſs the World with a favourable Opinion of the Juſtice of their ſeveral Claims: To that end a Letter written 2 Years ago on the part of Denmark has been newly reprinted here; and on the ſide of the Houſe of Holſtein Gottorp, a piece is juſt publiſh'd under the Title of The Caſe of the Succeſſion of the Biſhoprick of Lubeck.

Falmouth, Nov. 3. Yeſterday came in to convoy hence ſome Dutch Prizes, a Dutch Man of War of 44 Guns, and a Frigot of 26 Guns belonging to the Dutch Eaſt-India Company: Laſt Night ſail'd hence to cruiſe 2 Guernſey Privateers, who off this Port chaſed, took and ſent in an Oſtend Caper of 6 Guns and 45 Men. This Day the P. of Friſeland Privateer came in from cruiſing, and brought in the Greyhound of and for Rotterdam from Madera, which was taken by a French Privateer and retaken by the ſaid Caper.

And came into our Roads the Mercurius from Rotterdam, to load Herrings. Four of the Galleys (formerly mention'd) are in the Roads, but are not full Laden, by reaſon of bad Weather. The Adventure and Nightingal Men of War continue here, and are to Convoy our Ships for Holland: This Day Fortnight is the time appointed for them to Sail, if Wind and Weather permit. The Leanora Galley ſail'd this Day to the Southward, laden with Herrings.
